Dear Mr. Culpepper:

Since you're the Troy City manager, I just wanted to send a personal note of thanks and appreciation for the great work done by Cindy Stewart and the office of Community Affairs at the City of Troy. I am self-employed as a corporate trainer and many of my training programs are for inbound expatriates coming to the United States. When these international folks and their families decide to live in Troy, I visit the Community Affairs office and pick up a new resident information package to give them during their training.

By the way, I visit many city offices (Birmingham, Rochester, Rochester Hills, etc.) and I can tell you that Cindy Stewart is by far the most helpful, accomodating, pleasant, and service-oriented person I've had the pleasure to interact with over all other communities. She always goes the extra mile to provide additional information and helpful tips. It's evident she's very proud of the City of Troy and is truly happy when a newly-arrived international residents decide to live in Troy.

Kudos to Cindy and the Community Affairs department!

Best Regards,
Ricardo Núñez
