RE: Andy Willett and Crew

What a GREAT experience to meet Andy and his crew.

On Saturday, September 19, 2009 you had scheduled water shut down due to construction work being done on Combermere behind our manufacturing location in the Maplewood Courts complex. This shutdown would have totally stopped our ability to produce product.

On that same Saturday we had a tour group from Taste-Full Tours scheduled to join us so consumers could see first hand how we process and make our pickles. It just so happened that the Food Network also scheduled this day to come and film our facility and processing for an upcoming episode on "The Best I Ever Ate" program. What a wonderful thing for Michigan, Troy and McClure's Pickles! This was a HUGE opportunity for us to showcase Michigan made products and our small, growing company.

So as not to inconvenience our tour guests and the Food Network, we made contact with Andy through a recommendation from the crew working on Combermere. I explained our situation to Andy and he was quick to assure us that we would have water with no interruption. We had plenty of fresh water to process properly as well as provide necessary water needs for those joining us.

This note is sent to thank Andy and his crew and to complement the City of Troy for having a professional, knowledgeable and understanding staff working with the public and taxpaying citizens in Troy.

For your tasting and eating enjoyment we are including a jar of McClure's Garlic Dill and Spicy pickles. Bon Appetite!

Sincerely,

The McClure's and Pickle Staff
