On March 4, 2009, The Detroit Edison Company (Detroit Edison) filed its application seeking approval of its Energy Optimization Plan, as directed by the Michigan Public Service Commission's (Commission) December 4, 2008 order in Case No. U-15800. The Commission issued an order on June 2, 2009 approving the company's proposed Energy Optimization Plan.

On March 8, 2010, Detroit Edison filed an application to amend its Energy Optimization Plan to provide additional energy optimization opportunities to its customers. Detroit Edison also requests approval of additional surcharge revenue designed to recover the costs of the plan.

Detroit Edison is seeking approval of an Energy Optimization Plan beginning June 2010 and ending December 31, 2015 which is for a period of longer duration than that currently approved by the Commission. The company proposes to recover additional annual Energy Optimization Plan cost recovery in the amount up to $32.1 million in 2010, $55.5 million in 2011 $68.7 million in 2012, $68.1 million in 2013, $67.6 million in 2014, and $67.5 million in 2015 through implementation of maximum energy optimization surcharges, and other related accounting and regulatory approvals. The Company proposes maximum energy optimization surcharges in place of those currently charged to customers for Detroit Edison's Energy Optimization Plan for each customer class as follows:

Customer Class	Consumption Level	2010 - 2011 Surcharge	2012-2015 Surcharge
